APA SIGNS EAST COAST GRID GTA VARIATION

APA Group (ASX:APA), a leading Australian energy infrastructure business, today announced it has signed a significant variation to an existing East Coast Grid gas transportation agreement. The contract variation represents the re-contracting of current services, delivering approximately $40 million in revenue over the period 1 January 2021 to 31 December 2022; and a suite of new services, totalling in the order of $50 million of new revenues for the period 1 January 2020 to 31 December 2022.

Managing Director Mick McCormack said, "When APA put the East Coast Grid together in 2012, we were very aware of the benefits and opportunities that we'd be able to offer our customers. To see the flexibility and range of options that our customers are able to take advantage of is extremely satisfying. APA's Grid is the true heart of the east coast energy market, constantly transporting gas in all directions through 7,500 kilometres of interconnected pipe.

"The new contract arrangements will support our customer's ability to efficiently respond to southern market dynamics and includes both gas transportation and storage services."
